3. The referenced requirement locates this industrial complex approximately 20 nm southwest of Pao-chi; however the attachments to the requirement (Report No. 0423/63) shows that this industrial complex is located approximately 2 nm southwest of Pao-chi, on the south bank of the Wei Ho River. (See Figure #1). The annotations included on Figure #1 corresponds with the annotations included on the attachments to the referenced requirement. The three plants located at Annotations "A", "B" and "C" on Figure #1 are typical of many light fabrication industries. The production activities of these plants are unknown and cannot be accurately determined from present photography. Neither of these plants appear to have sufficient facilities present for the production of aircraft, SAMs or AAMs. These plants could be involved in research, the production of aircraft parts and guidance systems. The plants are served by a network of good roads and are not served by rail. During the course of this study no test cells, test facilities, aircraft or missile related activities were observed. Activity appears to be moderate and very little change has occurred between []
